NOW ON THE AGENDA

It is suggested that an international conference may assemble in January to consider the reparations question. That there will be such a conference is not certain, but it will be a matter of fact.

At least is one step, and an important one in the history of a general accounting of the world debt situation. It follows naturally and necessarily from the finding of the Young advisory committee.

In common language, the committee told Germany's creditors they may as well abandon hope of getting their money back, and be content with what they can get.

France has made plain that there will be no reduction in the reparations claims unless there is a corresponding reduction in its war debt. Other countries in Europe are entitled to the same treatment.

France, and will demand it as a matter of right and a matter of policy. The reparations conference can hardly be expected to drift into a general war debt conference.

ANOTHER DIPLOMATIC INTER-CHANGE

Japan is rather pained that Britain, the United States and France should have "apprehensions" as to the "stability" of the Chinese "government" at Chinchow. Perhaps, if Tokyo abandoned diplomatic language, it would understand the situation of the United States.

The Japanese government has been converted into a Japanese protectorate. The Chinese outpost at Chinchow is little more than a symbol of China's claim to sovereignty.

and, with the exception that Government obligations in the United States are being paid in gold. In trade the dollar is being left to take care of itself; witness the outrageous exchange rate that New York is demanding on our dollar, a rate which the experts at Ottawa admit to be out of line with the "hard facts of economics."

There must be a point where it would be better to stop paying our public debts in gold, let the dollar in New York sink to a level forced by the market requirements, and take the benefits which would come to Canada in the way of stimulated export trade. And unless our Government obligations in New York are of tremendous magnitude, that point would appear to have been reached.

One immediate effect of Professor Swanson's proposal would be an increase in the price of wheat. Canada would at once drop the handicap it now carries in trying to sell its wheat against that of Australia and the Argentine, both of whom export on our dollar, at the gold standard. And nothing would more quickly react to the advantage of business all over the Dominion than a substantial increase in the price of the western products get for their wheat.

CUBA'S RECORD

When Florida started the current season payoff for Cabs of 1981 to 87 at Havana, December 29, 1981, the only one to walk away with the lucky holder was a Cuban, who was not even a resident, a patroness of the field enclosure. When Florida started the run to get a handling in carry out of the field enclosure, the Cuban by circumstance sold. Incidentally, it was the boy's name, not the girl's, that was the one ticket made a great deal of evidence of tickets on the way to the field enclosure. The Cuban sold, they would have lost the winning pool.

REVIVAL OF EXPORT TRADE BOOSTS WHEAT

Canadian Press
WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 29.—A revival of export trade coupled with reports of unfavorable weather over Argentina which fields are now being planted, has helped to bring wheat prices up today. Prices at the close were 1/2c to 1 1/2c higher than Monday's final quotations.

December closed 1/2c higher at 50 1/2c, while July gained a similar amount to close at 49 1/2c.

There was a moderate bid demand for futures but offerings were extremely light. Reports that war was interfering with the Argentine harvest appeared to be the main reason for the higher level of prices.

December closed a very important item and does not anticipate any real business until after the New Year holidays.

At the same time, the Argentine would be an important factor and would demand being in the New Year's market.

There was a moderate bid demand for futures but offerings were extremely light. Reports that war was interfering with the Argentine harvest appeared to be the main reason for the higher level of prices.
